

dental office doctor mark watson

A visit to the dentist can be stressful. Which is why it's important for all doctors to create an environment that puts patients at ease the moment they walk in. Studies show that relaxed patients have positive experiences and their healing time is dramatically reduced, making it easier on patients and caregivers.

When the office of Dr. Mark Watson, DDS was up for a renovation, it was the perfect opportunity to create a place that would welcome patients and provide a stress free environment. He also realized that he would have to turn to the experts for help.

Healthcare Furniture

Front page above: waiting area. Front page below: Think chair by Steelcase. This page above: custom cabinetry by Stelter Partners. This page below: Malibu lounge seating and table by Brayton.

The One Workplace team stepped in and immediately put Dr. Watson at ease. While he had an idea of what he wanted his office to look like, it became a matter of specifying exactly what would work best for seating, cabinetry and patient comfort. To make it easier on everyone, One Workplace provided Dr. Watson with several color boards made up of soothing color palettes. There were plenty of options to come up with a color and style scheme for all lobby and reception seating.

For the cabinetry, it was crucial to choose a surface that would stand up to the rigors of harsh cleaning products. The One Workplace designer provided multiple surface options and cabinet styles.

According to Dr. Watson, “in the dentistry business, we’re talking about pretty specific cabinetry. There are a handful of custom cabinetmakers and there can be a lot of back and forth with trying to get exactly what you want. One Workplace wasn’t like that at all. Not only was I given options that met my needs, I was constantly updated with emails to let me know where the cabinets were in the design and production process, and when they were going to be installed. There was no worrying on my part.”

“The One Workplace team was incredibly helpful. They helped me along the way to make the right choices while giving me plenty of options. There was always a choice and no matter what I chose, I wouldn’t have been wrong. I would recommend One Workplace to my colleagues without hesitation. They definitely won’t be disappointed.”

– Dr. Mark Watson, DDS.

One issue that did concern Dr. Watson was downtime in taking care of his patients. Installing custom cabinetry can take some time, and he anticipated moving around appointments. However, the One Workplace team assured Dr. Watson that they would be able to deliver and install everything over the course of one weekend. To the surprise of Dr. Watson, “they came exactly when they said they would. To me it was amazing that they could identify where each and every piece belonged. I have seven rooms that required cabinetry, and I was initially hesitant that some pieces would be placed in the wrong room. But the team made their promise and there were no issues. My patients came in the next Monday and even they were surprised by the transformation.”

By helping Dr. Watson redesign his dental office, One Workplace built an environment that is relaxing and welcoming to patients. They also provided a custom cabinet solution that incorporated effortlessly into the office and will stand the test of time. One Workplace does more than just sell furniture. They create environments designed to promote comfort and relaxation.

For more information, contact us today at (800) 899.4324 or visit us at www.oneworkplace.com.