

GLOBAL BRAINSTORMING™

Redefine the Collaborative Experience

Thunder completely redefines the collaborative experience, giving teams the environment and tools they need to work or learn together, regardless of location. Imagine a room where flipcharts, data, video, and other digital information surround you on the walls – a room where you are immersed in the content. All of it virtual, so it can be displayed, shared, and updated in real time, around the globe or around the corner.

Thunder finally solves a challenge that has been troubling business and education for years: real-time, natural information exchange. Research shows that persistent and visible information is vital to successful collaboration. With Thunder, teams can finally create, share, and display information instantaneously, in a simple and natural way.

Unleash the Potential of Your Enterprise’s Intellectual Energy

Thunder can’t give you better ideas. But it can – and will – give you the power to unlock the resources and talent you already have, wherever they are located.

Just imagine what this could mean for your organization. You can drastically shorten your time to market. You can eliminate much of the lost time and higher costs associated with excessive travel. You can realize a measurable return on investment. And you can do it all by releasing the power of your collective thinking.

The Thunder Experience

The Thunder Experience: In-Room

Thunder was designed specifically to promote a truly collaborative experience. To ensure adoption, we made it nearly as easy to use as a traditional flipchart. But, unlike a flipchart, Thunder allows you to input information from just about any source – laptops, scanned images, and video. Or, you can just walk up and write on it.

Thunder Connects People and Ideas Globally

The Thunder Experience: Room-to-Room and Remote Participation

Thunder's remote participation properties make it a collaboration tool unlike anything ever conceived. Participants in all corners of the globe can share their ideas seamlessly by connecting multiple Thunder rooms or by simply joining via laptop, regardless of location. Team members can help build on the data and information communicated, because they can experience the whole meeting or lesson in context, in real time, and truly participate.

The Thunder Experience: Meeting Continuity

Keep the momentum going on your project by instantly accessing your previous meeting content, regardless of location. Bring the original group back together – or invite teams in different locations to actively participate as well. Thunder allows you to instantly reopen your previous meeting, just where you left it, so your group's thoughts, work, and ideas are never lost.

Learn how you can unlock your enterprise's resources and talent with Thunder, the revolutionary collaboration system from PolyVision.

Make your appointment to experience Thunder today.

POLYVISION[®]
A Steelcase Company

1.800.620.POLY | +1.678.542.3100
www.PolyVision.com | Thunder@PolyVision.com

© 2006 PolyVision Corporation. All rights reserved. "Global Brainstorming," "Thunder" and "Virtual Flipchart" are trademarks of PolyVision Corporation.

Ideas are shared instantly, never lost or forgotten.

Active global participation yields big ideas fast.

Thunder gives teams a simple and natural way to exchange information and collaborate.